

FOR CREATIVE FEMINISM

AN ARTS AWARD

Recognising the potential of new media to increase the exposure of the arts to local and global communities, Lee Grant and Ursula Frederick, at their own initiative and cost, engaged a web developer to design and build LIGHT JOURNEYS, a professional web format for the display of art photography made by women.

The centrepiece of the website is an online exhibition space, <lightjourneys.net.au> updated on a monthly basis, which features the artwork of Australian women in the photographic medium. The site now attracts 400 subscribers from around the globe.

The authors successfully nominated the site be included within PANDORA, the National Library's sustainable repository of online publications of national significance.

LIGHT JOURNEYS is a thoroughly feminist endeavour, because it provides a welcoming and accessible venue for emerging female artists to be bold, to take a chance, and to grow in confidence, as their creative endeavours are seen and appreciated around the world.
