

FOR FEMINIST ACTIVITY IN THE COMMUNITY

A COMMUNITY ACTIVISM AWARD

Anjana is National Convenor for the Asian Australian Alliance Women's Forum (AAAWF), which is pioneering a culturally sensitive project to support Asian Australian women victims of domestic violence. She has co-ordinated many events with speakers from all cultures to speak in support of the rights of women.

With other Convenors of the Alliance she is developing a leadership programme for women interested in pursuing positions on government boards and committees, or in being elected or involved at the local, state or federal government level.

She is the Vice-Chair of IMMIGRANT WOMEN'S SPEAKOUT which supports women, one-on-one, from many migrant backgrounds.

Anjana works with other women's organisations, shadow and government ministers to keep domestic violence on the mainstream platform. She is a strong leader in the Nepalese community and has linked up with 'Asian women only' groups to make domestic violence a mainstream issue in the Asian community.
